

you start your journey, the sooner you will reach your destination. Everything else can wait!

RULE:

From now on, anytime you have an excuse as to why you should not approach the woman, you have to approach her just to prove yourself that you were not making an excuse.

Openers

Openers are a short sentence, story or a question that you use to initiate a conversation with women or groups with men and women. There are different schools that have numerous classification of openers. In my opinion, there are only two kind of openers, depending on your intention:

1. Direct Opener
2. Indirect Opener

Direct Opener

These are the openers where your interest is to reveal your intention to the woman right away. So if you want to express your interest in a woman right away, you go with direct opener. An example of direct opener is, “Hi I saw you and had to come and talk to you.” So you have revealed your interest in